The procession having been formed will march to the place where the body lies. After the conclusion of the religious services (if there are any), the Master will take his station at the head of the coffin, which will be uncovered, the Warden at the foot and the brethren around it, and commence the services as follows :

Master. “What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? Shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave?"

Response. "Man walketh in a vain shadow, he heapeth up riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them."

Master. "When he dieth he shall carry nothing away; his glory shall not descend after him."

Response. "Naked he came into the world, and naked he must return."

Master. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

The Master then taking the roll in his hand, says:

"Let us live the life of the righteous, that our last end may be like his."

The brethren answer: "God is our God, forever and ever; he will be our guide even unto death."

The Master then records the name and age of the deceased upon the roll and says:

"Almighty Father! into thy hands we leave, with humble submission, the soul of our deceased brother."

The brethren answer three times:

"The will of God is accomplished! So mote it be."

The Master then deposits the roll in the archives, and repeats a prayer from the Monitor. At the conclusion, the coffin will be closed; the procession will be re-formed and march to the place of interment in the order prescribed. The members of the Lodge will form a circle around the grave. The Clergy and Officers will take their station at the head, and the mourners at the foot, when the services will be resumed by the Master, who will deliver the funeral address found in the Monitors.

During the delivery of the address, the following invocations and responses are made:

Master. "May we be true and faithful, and may we live and die in love!"

Response. "So mote it be."

Master. "May we profess what is good and always act agreeable to our profession!"

Response. "So mote it be."

Master. "May the Lord bless us and prosper us, and may all our good intentions be crowned with success!"

Response. "So mote it be."

Master. Glory be to God in the highest; on earth, peace, good will toward men."

Response. "So mote it be, now, from henceforth, and forever more. Amen."

The apron is taken off from the coffin and handed to the Master; the coffin is deposited in the grave, and the Master concludes the address.

After the address has been delivered, the brethren move in procession around the place of interment (singing the Dirge), and severally drop the sprig of evergreen into the grave; after which, the Public Grand Honors are given. The Master then concludes the services.

The procession then returns in form to the place whence it set out, where the necessary duties are complied with, and the Lodge is closed.

[NOTE.—If the body is to be taken into a church, the procession will march to the house or place where it lies, receive and convey it to the church, where, after the benediction has been pronounced, the services will commence as above.]

FUNERAL DIRGE.

MUSIC—"Pleyel."

Solemn strikes the funeral chime,
Notes of our departing time;
As we journey here below,
Through a pilgrimage of woe!

Mortals, now indulge a tear,
For mortality is here!
See how wide her trophies wave
O'er the slumbers of the grave!

Here another guest we bring,
Seraphs of celestial wing,
To our funeral altar come;
Waft this friend and brother home.

Lord of all! below—above—
Fill our hearts with truth and love;
When dissolves this earthly tie,
Take us to thy Lodge on high.
